Ms. Testa Yearbook Dedication

Good afternoon, I am Christina Perrone and this is Jacqi Goodrich - we are the editors of THE Westwood High School Yearbook. On behalf of the class of 2016 we have the great pleasure of dedicating this yearbook to an outstanding teacher and member of the Westwood community. In preparation for this speech, we spoke to many of the students who have worked closely with this teacher. All of them started by describing her with one single word: "passionate."

This teacher has exceeded expectations both inside and outside of the classroom, constantly showing passion for whatever she is doing in that moment. In class this teacher displays a great love of her subject. Her students have said that she made the class interactive and got them excited about learning. Class was not simply about memorizing things, but truly understanding and developing skills in the subject. Many of her students, including Isabelle Jardin reflected, "She was the only teacher I ever had who never lost her enthusiasm throughout the year."

Besides her main class, this teacher also sponsored the Senior Independent Projects Program. She helped to organize the first Dance Marathon held in Massachusetts, in which she, along with SIPP students, raised $23,500 for Boston Children's Hospital. "She is Passionate, Loving, and Enthusiastic," says Hattie Rowe, "She cared so much about making a difference and impacting the lives of others. She cares so much for her students and is so dedicated to her job!! She goes above and beyond with everything that she does for Westwood. Other SIPP students, such as Olivia Ware described this teacher as, "strong, caring, upbeat, and positive". Her favorite memory from SIPP class was when this teacher "tried to make waffles for the last SIPP class and forgot butter and nonstick spray." Both Ilana Goldberg and Allie Beattie will always cherish the little holiday gifts this teacher would give her students with sweet personal notes attached.

As members of the yearbook, we have the unique opportunity to see all of the people who make this community special. Again and again we have seen this teacher at the forefront of school activities, working to make the high school experience enjoyable for everyone. From sports to extracurriculars, fundraisers to field trips, this Westwood Alumna exhibits an unwavering energy for the school and provides ample support for her students. Lauren Eramo spoke highly of this teacher's coaching abilities when she stated

"My freshman year I joined spring track and I was terrified, but she made me feel welcome and she was really encouraging." This teacher not only has immense faith in her students, but also receives great joy in seeing them succeed. She has invested herself in the lives of her students whether it has been through coaching or her involvement in extracurricular activities.

It is a truth universally known that no one likes fundraising, but this teacher excels at the daunting task. She is at the heart of the Spanish Club, which raises money throughout the year for different charities. If you have ever tried to guess the number of jelly beans in the jar in the cafeteria, you have experienced just how she puts the fun in fundraising. All proceeds from guessing the number of jelly beans go to the Jimmy Fund and allows members of the Spanish Club to attend the Scooper Bowl each summer. The club has raised valuable funds for the battle against cancer. This teacher played a pivotal role in the success of this and other fundraising drives. Whatever she sets her mind to she accomplishes.

At this point you must be thinking “this teacher is deeply involved in the WHS community,” but that would be an understatement. She has organized several trips over the duration of her time here, from service trips in both the Dominican Republic and Costa Rica to cultural learning experiences in Spain. Maria Kelly, a participant of the Spain trip last year, stated, “You can get along with her really easily. I was with her for only one week, but I felt like I knew her really well by the end of the trip.” It is this approachability that makes her well-suited for organizing other school events such as spirit week and the prom. Class Treasurer, Michael Tian stated that “her dedication to the school has shown through the beautiful hallway decorations and spirit week.” Walking through the halls and seeing all of the throwback decorations for the senior class was truly a sight to behold.

And who could forget prom? One of the most memorable nights of junior and senior year. What would there be to look forward to without promposals, the search for a decent dress, and MAJOR proma? This teacher has handled each of these problems with the utmost elegance and efficiency. Never one to settle for less than fabulous, she has continued to amaze prom-goers with awesome venues and creative themes. Prom would not be half as insta-worthy without this teacher's guidance.

“I say to my friends and family all the time that I have the best job in the world and I am beyond lucky to work here and see you guys everyday. It's going to be hard to say goodbye to all of you and I think that this is an amazing way for me to remember you guys!”
– Ms. Testa

Not only is this teacher highly admired by the Class of 2016, but is a valued friend and colleague to many other faculty members. In the words of Ms. Flanagan, “She is the pulse of this school. There's rarely anything that happens here without her knowing about it - or having planned it entirely! The joke in the foreign language office is that we need to put up a sign that says, “No, She is NOT here right now,” since students are constantly coming to look for her. From Spanish club to SIPP, track coaching to trip planning, prom and everything in between, she's managed to have a direct impact on nearly every student in this building, particularly the members of this year's graduating class. Her energy and passion are unmatched and I can't think of a more appropriate person to receive the yearbook dedication.”

As Dr. Zarrow puts it, “She is quite possibly the hardest working member of the Westwood faculty, not to mention the busiest - I can go for a week at a time without seeing her, because she's teaching, tutoring, mentoring, managing, motivating, coaching, and of course ... “proming.” She feels as though she's frazzled all of the time, while in reality she bears herself with incredible grace, no matter how much she has on her plate. She has done something extremely difficult, if not impossible. She has made herself an indelible part of the Westwood community - a community in which she herself was raised - it is difficult to think of what Westwood would look like without her. I am honored to call her a colleague and friend.” We honor a teacher, who Hattie Rowe says, “has showed us what it means to have school spirit and to have passion for something important.” For her kindness, her passion, and her unparalleled drive to help the students around her, the Class of 2016 dedicates the yearbook to Ms. Testa.”

We are so proud of you!!! Smart, funny, creative and always contributing to a team or helping others learn new things. We're going to miss hearing your amazing piano and horn playing -- and your great "takes" on people and situations. We think of all you have created and built this year: chain mail (just for fun!), robot bumper covers, science team "gizmos" and we know that your teammates and the Camp Inter-actions kids have benefited from your knowledge and spirit!

With love, Mom, Dad and Caitlin

Jamie and Jenna Burke

Until you spread your wings, you will never know how far you can fly.

We are so proud of you!

We love you,
Mom, Dad, and Stephen

This year's yearbook would not have been possible without the hardwork and dedication of many. We would like to give a big thank you to the following individuals for their contributions this year:

Mr. Mao for capturing the spirit of Westwood High School and tirelessly updating your website with photos. Without your talent the yearbook would not have been possible.

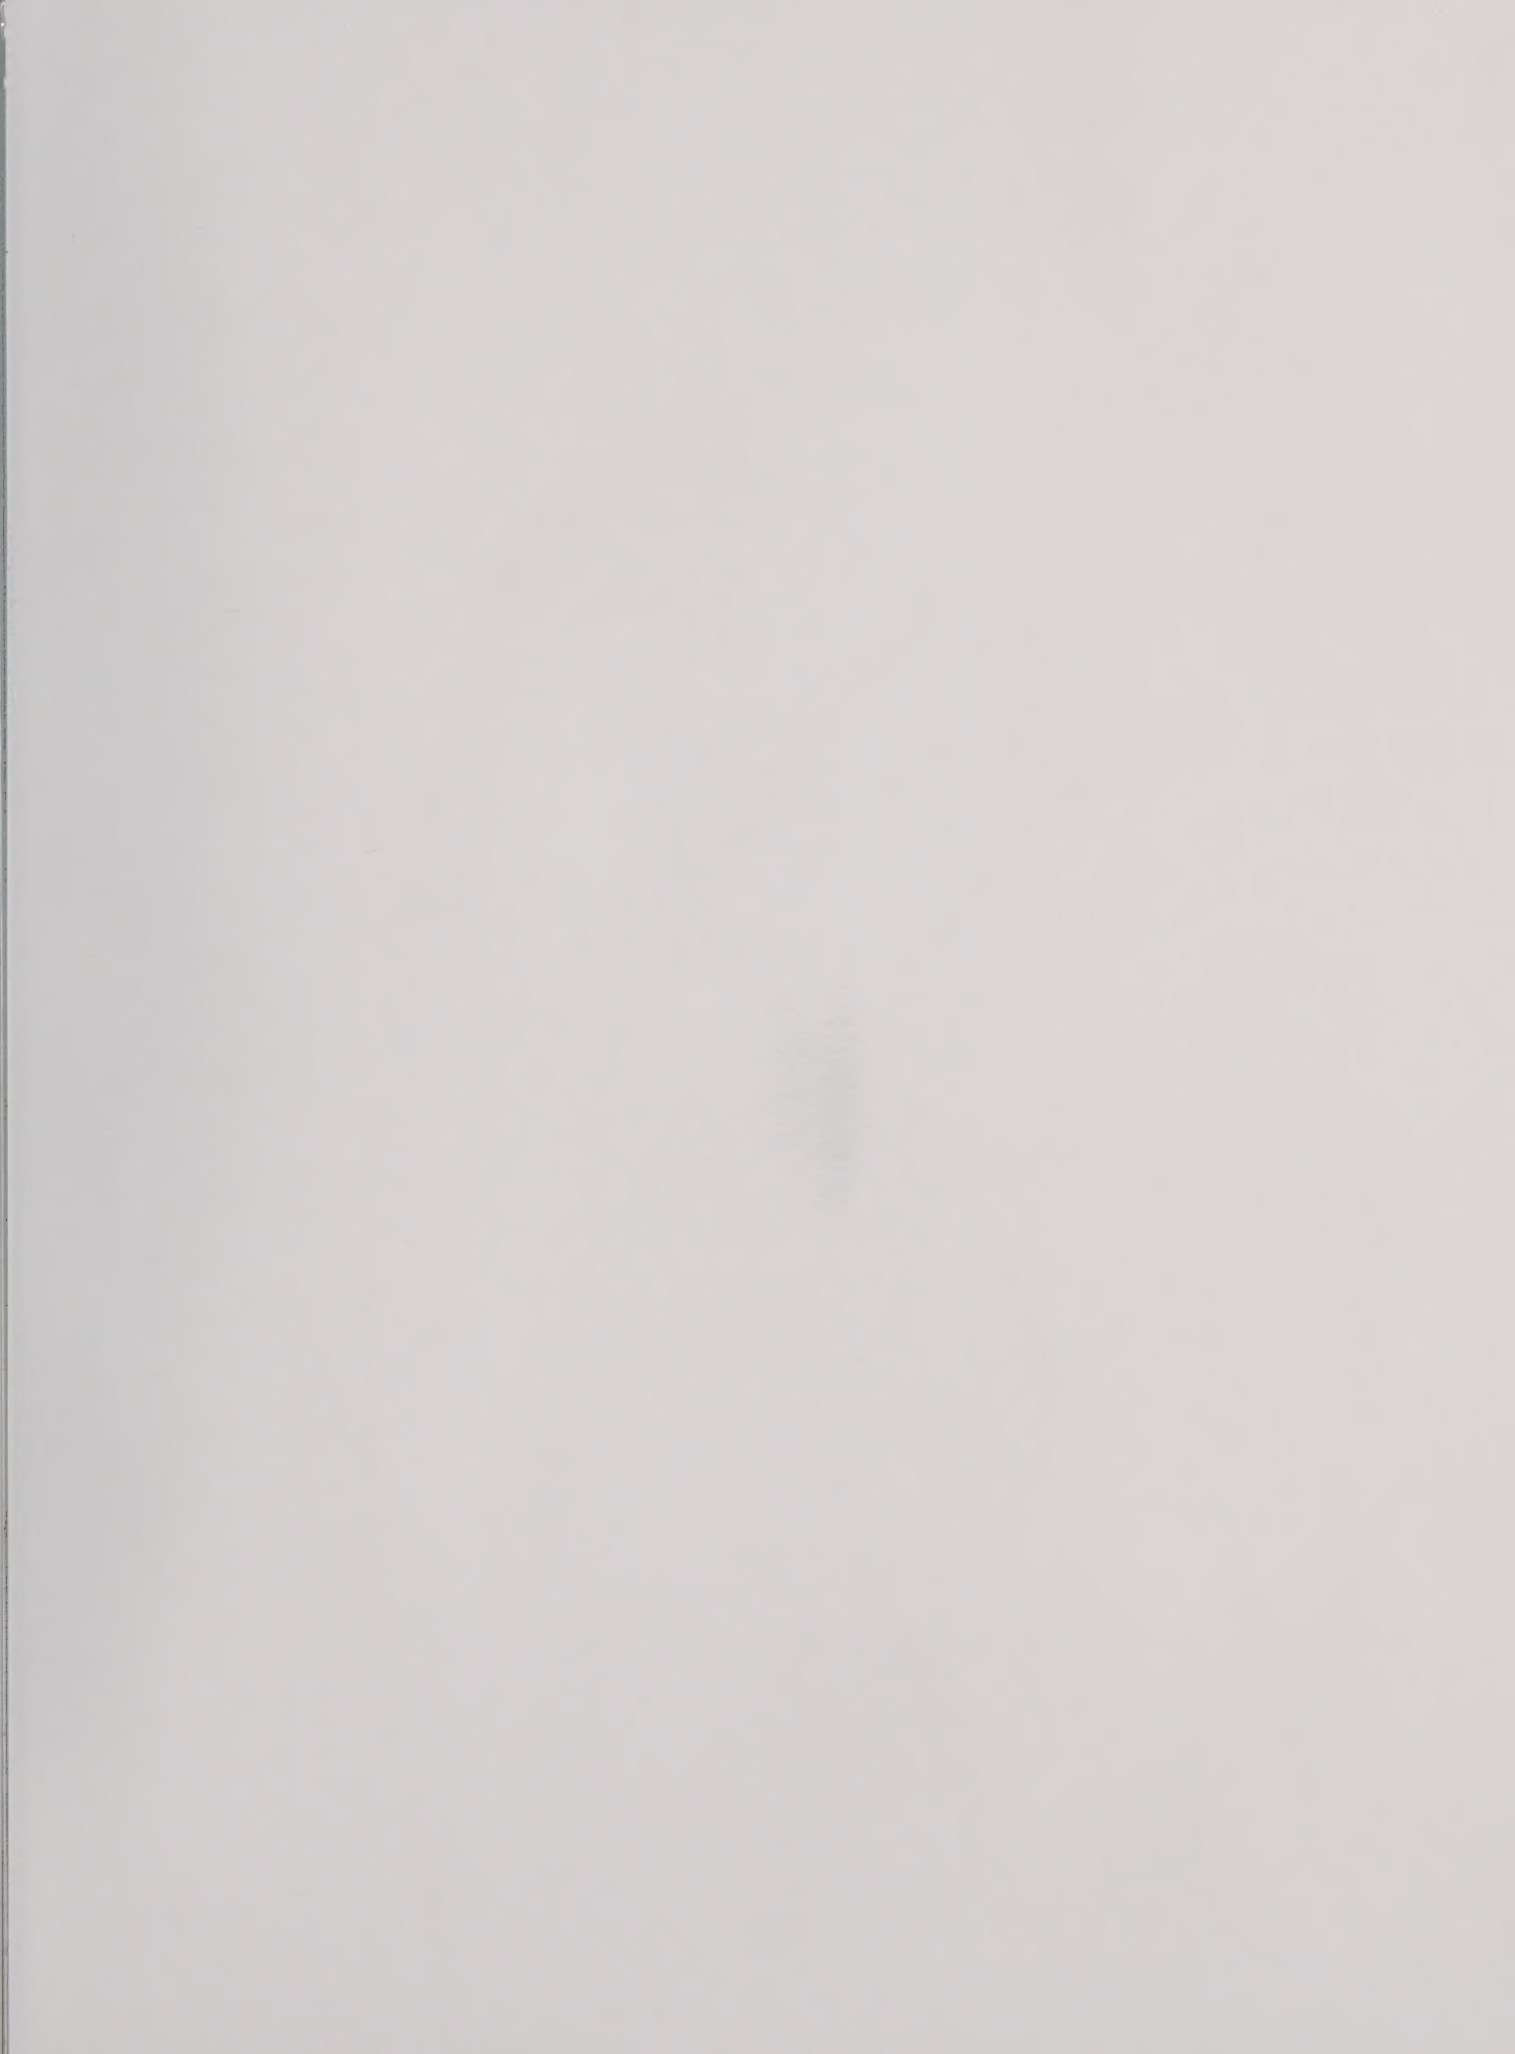

Grynn & Barrett for capturing the best side of our students in their portraits and their sports teams.

Jacqi Goodrich and Christina Perrone for being the champions of yearbook, whether it was mentoring new staff members or chasing down photos your efforts as editors have been invaluable.

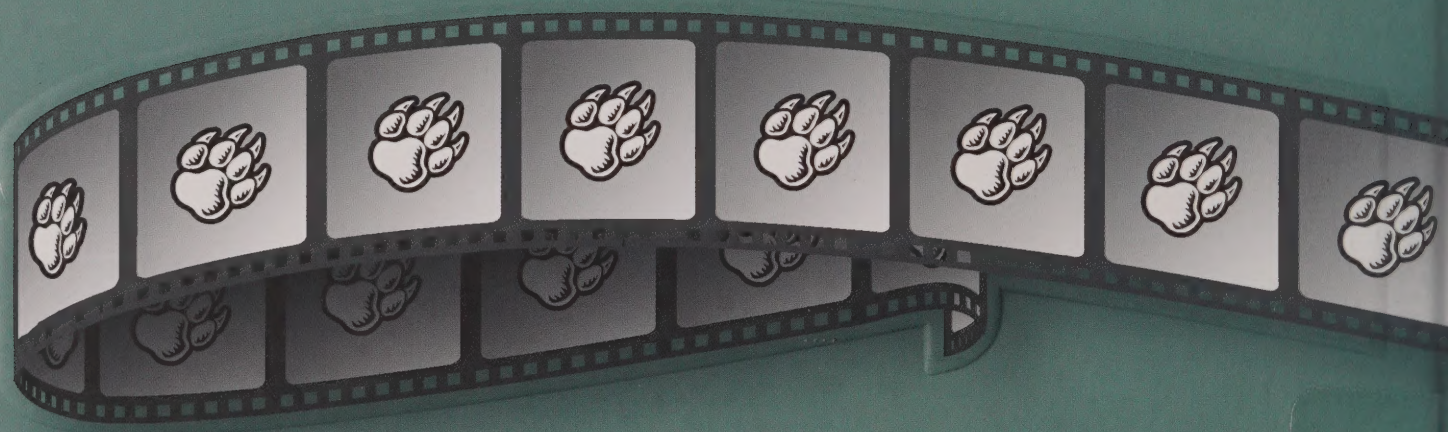

Jenna & Jamie Burke for their outstanding contributions as new members. You threw yourselves into the yearbook and your hard work is evident.

The Administration for their continued support as we attempt to document all the happenings of WHS.
